Enrolment Checklists
Fall/Winter 2022-2023
Welcome, Glendonite!

Entering university is a major milestone that involves developing new skills, learning about yourself, and growing as a person. To a new student, enrolling in courses might seem intimidating – that’s normal. To help you with this process, we created these program-specific Enrolment Checklists.

Who should use this document?
Students entering their first year of study at Glendon in Fall 2022 and who are receiving 15 or fewer transfer credits from previous studies.

How do I use this document
Use this document along with the First Year Enrolment Guide to create your schedule for the Fall/Winter 2022-2023 year. Find the enrolment checklist for your program and follow the guidelines for selecting your courses.

Should I take courses that are taught in French?
This document mostly contains courses that are taught in English. If you are already fluent in French, you can consult the Enrolment Checklist document in French for additional course options.

If French is not your dominant language, you should first consider your ability in the following areas before selecting courses taught in French:

- Your ability to understand a lecture that is taught in the French
- Your ability to participate in class discussions in French
- Your ability to keep up with weekly readings in French
- Your ability to conduct research using French resources
- Your ability to Write university papers in French

Students come to Glendon with different levels of French knowledge. As a reference point, some students start to feel comfortable taking their discipline courses in French with a placement level of GL/FSL 1210.
