

STUDY IN COSTA RICA AT YORK'S ECO-CAMPUS THIS SUMMER 2020

GL/SP/COMS 4608 3.0 Narratives in /of Costa Rica Individuals, communities and their voices Instructor: María Constanza Guzmán, PhD.

As part of the Summer Abroad Program at York's Eco-Campus in Costa Rica, this course centres on the nature and function of narratives as they relate to the construction of subjects, communities and nations. Students analyze local narrative environments (including fiction and non-fiction), community narratives and life stories. Students are also given the option of creating their own narrative based on their experience in Costa Rica, while reflecting on the act of telling/writing as an act of (self) knowledge production and its potential for building archives of memory, articulating communities and fostering empathy.

The course is taught in English. Students majoring in Spanish are required to present course work in Spanish to receive major credits.

Offered at York University Eco-campus,
Las Nubes, Costa Rica

The course will run from May 1st to May 10, 2020

Spanish language proficiency is required

York students can apply for funding through York International
