

STUDY IN COSTA RICA AT YORK'S ECO-CAMPUS

THIS SUMMER – MAY 2020

Course: (GL/SP/COMS 4608)

Narratives in/of Costa Rica. Individuals, Communities, and their voices

Professor: María Constanza Guzmán

mguzman@glendon.yorku.ca

As part of the Summer Abroad Program in Costa Rica, this course centers on the nature and function of narratives as they relate to the construction of subjects, communities and nations. Students analyze local narrative environments, including fiction and non-fiction, community narratives and life stories. Students are also given the option of creating their own narrative based on their experience abroad, while reflecting on the act of telling/writing as an act of (self) knowledge production and its potential for building archives of memory, articulating communities and fostering empathy. The course will be taught in English, but students majoring in Spanish will have to complete their assignments in Spanish to receive major credits.

Offered at York's Campus, in Costa Rica, Las Nubes

The course will run from May 1st to May 10th, 2020

Offered to students from all faculties

York students can apply for funding through York International
